

Hello

My name is Kieron Porter and I am the Fearless Outreach Worker for Gwent. I am delighted to be writing to you to make you aware of my employment with fearless in Gwent and unveil the free educational services we can provide for you!

Fearless is the youth service of Crimestoppers and through its website, Fearless.org, it offers young people non-judgemental advice so they can make informed decisions about reporting crime. The Fearless website uniquely allows young people to give information about crime 100% anonymously using a secure online form. The service also engages with and educates young people about the consequences of their choices around crime.

Through this programme we can provide free workshops working directly with young people, covering issues such as witnessing and reporting crime, county lines, grooming and weapons.

We can also provide free professional training for practitioners that work with young people so we can all help to educate and empower every young person in Gwent to make informed decisions about crime.

In order to support you as best as possible, we also have a range of free resources on our website, Fearless.org/professionals, that include posters, lesson plans and information regarding crime.

Included in this introductory pack are a few examples of our resources and a leaflet where you will find further information about the workshops and Training sessions that we can offer your school. Your school will also soon receive an email with links to further online information.
